

Patient Information Veteran Aware Hospital

December 2021

Here at University Hospitals of North Midlands (UHNM) we are proud to be a Veteran Aware healthcare provider

Please let a member of staff know if you, or your spouse/partner, have ever served in the UK armed forces so that we can best support your care needs.

Being flagged as a veteran in your NHS medical notes will help ensure you are able to access specific veterans' health services, such as those for mental health, hearing loss, limb amputation and wheelchairs.

All veterans are entitled to priority access to NHS care (including hospital, primary or community care) for conditions associated with their time in the armed forces (service-related).

But this is always subject to clinical need and doesn't entitle you to jump the queue ahead of someone with a higher clinical need.

Improving care for Veterans across the NHS

Our Trust is a member of the Veterans Covenant Hospital Alliance (VCHA), sharing and driving best practice in NHS care for people who serve or have served in the UK armed forces and their families, in line with the Armed Forces Covenant.

What you can expect in this hospital

- We support the health commitments of the Armed Forces Covenant.
- We are committed to ensuring no disadvantage and giving special consideration where appropriate.
- We have educated and trained all relevant staff to identify and respond to veterans' needs.
- We also support the UK armed forces community as an employer.

What other support is available?

There are many service charities and organisations. The Veterans' Gateway is a first point of contact for veterans and their families. It provides information, advice and support.

How could you get involved in the NHS?

The NHS can benefit significantly from the skills and experience you bring from your military training and service. Veteran Aware hospitals support the employment of veterans and reservists in the NHS workforce and will be involved either in the 'Employer Recognition Scheme' or the 'Step Into Health' scheme.

Armed Forces Covenant

The NHS is committed to the Armed Forces Covenant, which is a promise by the nation that those who serve or who have served in the UK armed forces, and their families, will be treated fairly. It has two key principles:

- The armed forces community should not face disadvantage compared to other citizens in the provision of public and commercial services.

- Special consideration is appropriate in some cases, especially for those who have given most such as the injured and the bereaved.

You and your families should not be at a disadvantage in accessing appropriate health services and should retain your place on any NHS waiting list if moved around due to the service person being posted.

The NHS always prioritises people with the most urgent clinical need. At the same time, we must recognise your health and social needs and act on them. We are working to make sure this happens.

We are committed to consistently and continually learning from our patients and their families to improve care for all. If you have any feedback or suggestions please contact the Patient Experience Team via email on patient.experience@uhnm.nhs.uk.
